The fire marshal of Kansas shows in his report that fires caused by cigars or cigarette stubs cost the people of that state more than $50,000 last year. These figures probably "do not lie" but they will not decrease the use of tobacco in the Sunflower state by one cigar. These fires are really occasioned by carelessness, and that one word will explain at least 50 per cent of all fire losses.

The alien citizens who escaped army service by declaring that they had no intention of later becoming citizens of the U. S. probably never thought of after the war days. Now they are to be deported with the full understanding that they have forever forfeited the right to become citizens of this republic. It is a punishment quite well merited by the offense.

The suggestion that because of changes in street car fares in so many cities, that 6 cent coins should come into use, will hardly be followed. Many of the utility companies are arguing that the rate should be seven or eight cents and declare that they have the operation cost figures to prove their contention. The six cent piece would really be more of an annoyance than a convenience.

THE STRENGTH OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

The strength and the vision of Abraham Lincoln are each year impressed upon the people as his sayings are recalled at his birthday anniversary observances. How well Lincoln knew the force of public sentiment, and that without the backing of that sentiment was of little avail is shown in this quotation:

"Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed. Consequently he who molds public sentiment goes deeper than he who enacts statutes or pronounces decisions. He touches statutes and decisions possible or impossible to be executed."

STILL HAVE USE FOR CORN.

At one time farmers were led to believe that if distillers went out of business the demand for corn would slump off. If they had stopped to think they would have known that the men who have millions invested in distilleries would not let the machinery stand idle. Several of the distilleries in Peoria will be found making sugar after June 1—and that from corn—according to a process recently discovered.

CANDIDATES AND CITY OFFICES.

At Virden the citizens are developing a get-together spirit which promises well for that city. The present mayor is not enamored of office and desired very much to be relieved. However, he has made a good record and has consented to again become a candidate, demanding in return that certain other men shall serve as aldermen. The indications are for no contests.

Unless the number of candidates in Jacksonville increases rapidly in the course of the next few days there will not be enough to fill the various offices. Perhaps some reciprocal agreement plan will be necessary here in order to secure men enough to take up the tasks of city administration. There must be twenty-four candidates in the primary election if there are names for all the offices, and thus far only two candidates have filed their petitions, and two others have made formal announcement.

After all, twenty four names are not really needed, for the clerk has authority to run blanks on the tickets if no candidates' names are on file.

The senators of the U. S. should be ashamed of themselves on this suffrage vote, when the action of Missouri is considered. The legislature of that state, not accounted as especially progressive, has passed the bill to give women suffrage by a vote of 132 to 8, which is nearly unanimous.

CONGRESSMAN MCCORMICK AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Congressman Medill McCormick in an address at St. Louis yesterday made a brilliant argument for keeping the Monroe Doctrine alive. Mr. McCormick's argument shows how easy the U. S. will get away from the principle that has meant so much for national safety, if responsibility is taken on for the control of conditions in Syria or some other far-away country. The congressman's remarks indicate his statesman-like grasp of this great problem, and give earnest too, that when he becomes a member of the senate his voice will be heard in a forceful way on the questions of great public import.

Mr. Garrettsen, representing four railway brotherhoods, says that the demand is to come for still higher wages. The report of the railroad administration shows enormous losses during the past year of operation and the prospect is certain of still further increases in freight rates if the brotherhood demands are met with the approving response that characterized administrative action on previous demands. Meanwhile workers in other lines of industry fail to see why preference should be shown to the railroad men.

The great majority of citizens—especially those directly connected with soldiers—will hope that Senator Johnson's demand that American troops be brought home from Russia will have results. Nevertheless the knowledge remains that the Russian situation cannot be ignored, for until there comes an orderly government there the talk of permanent world peace is childish.

A resolution has been introduced by the minority party in the general assembly demanding an explanation of why the state does not proceed with road building and other expensive work, for which funds have been provided. This looks like an attempt to turn into political capital for the Democratic party the declaration of the administration that the work cannot proceed until the prices of materials are reduced. The administration does not propose that any excess profits shall be made by material men.

BOLSHEVIKI PROBLEMS.

Organized labor is very much opposed to the state constabulary bill pending before the general assembly. Nevertheless the measure is securing strong support from both Chicago and down state members of the legislature. It is not a bill purposing in any way to interfere with the rights of labor but is partially brought to attention at this time because of the knowledge that the Bolsheviki movements are constituting the greatest menace to the peace of society in the U. S. Congressman Rodenberg in his Lincoln day address before the legislature declared that coping with Bolshevism is the outstanding problem which is facing the American people. The term "Bolsheviki" is now being applied to various movements of unrest directed against governmental authority and espousing anarchistic principles that all the serious labor troubles in this country during recent months have been because of the Bolsheviki element in labor circles and not because of the rank and file or organized labor. Mr. Rodenberg does not underestimate the seriousness of the problem.

Rippling Rhymes

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast;" no grief or ill can knock it galley west. We hear of men so soaked in black despair they see no hope, no solace anywhere; if this were so they would not last a day; they'd gasp three times and quickly fade away. While man survives, however fierce his lot, some spark of hope is glowing bright and hot. When it winks out, he shuts his weary eyes, and goes somewhere—perhaps to Paradise. I have no doubt that even Wilhelm hopes, as in the gloom all desolate he gropes. In waking dreams, when evening breezes moan, he sees himself once more upon a throne; cold reason chides him when the morning breaks, and grimly tells him that his dreams are fakes; cold reason is a pregnant sort of dope, but it falls down when it collides with hope. When hope is dead in Wilhelm's tortured soul he'll tread the dunes to find a seemly hole, where an ex-king in solitude may lie, and like a lion or a jackal die. We live on hope, as well as pie or bread; hope is the morrow, yesterday is dead.

She tried to kid the sheriff but he was a woman-hater! -- --

You see, the sheriff came in and arrested the whole company while they were playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at a little town in the Middle West, and just as little Eva is going up to Heaven on a white sheet, she has to break off and soothe this haysseed official—an actress certainly has to have her nerve with her, doesn't she? DEBATE INDUSTRIAL UNREST IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The debate on industrial unrest was opened in the house of commons today by William Brace, labor member for South Glamorgan, who moved the official labor party amendment in reply to the speech from the throne. The amendment expresses regret at the absence of any mention of a definite proposal for dealing with the present causes of industrial unrest and for securing working hours and conditions of labor that would establish a higher standard of life and social well being for the people.

Mr. Brace declared that much of the responsibility for the unrest lay in the failure to give serious trade union officials such settlements by negotiation as they were entitled to receive and in the granting of concessions regarding terms to trade union leaders before the stoppages.

Organized labor, the member said, stood for the settlement of disputes by consultation and conciliation. The real cause of the present unrest was declared to be an accumulation of unsettled grievances. He contended that if the situation created by this unrest was to be remedied the government must go to the root of the matter and nationalize the land, the railways and the mines.

UPHOLDS GRANT'S DECISION.

New York, Feb. 13.—John Heydler, president of the National League today upheld the contention of President George W. Grant of the Boston Nationals that the Boston club should be permitted to start training on March 19, instead of waiting until March 23, the official date selected for National League clubs to begin training. As the Boston and Brooklyn teams play their opening game in Boston on April 19, four days before the regular season opening, Heydler notified the clubs that they could start March 19.

Heydler also notified the presidents of the National League clubs that the National League considers the national agreement in force until further notice and that all negotiations with minor league clubs must be made in accordance with its provisions.

RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp returned yesterday from Chicago, where he went to attend the congress of the League of Nations and a conference on the Presbyterian New Era Movement. The congress of the League of Nations was one of a series held in different parts of the country under the general auspices of the League to Enforce Peace. Dr. Rammelkamp found the convention affairs of great interest and many organizations throbbed in earnest in their desire to back President Wilson in his efforts to bring about a League of Nations which will insure peace and make war an impossibility.

$200.00 Cash Prizes for the best answers

You never saw me, folks, did you, without the famous kettle on my tail? Everybody wonders why it's there. Well I've never told the secret yet, but now I'm going to give everybody who reads this a chance to guess it, and at the same time win one of a number of liberal money prizes. Come one, come all!—Help solve the great mystery!

Here's how to win:

First, there's no string on this contest. Anybody interested in horses or mules is urged to send in an answer. All I ask is that you don't use more than 100 words, and that you be sure to mention "Checkerboard Bags" (in which Purina Feeds are always packed). Now, don't be afraid—come on in everybody! The best answers take the prizes—regardless of fancy language or swell handwriting. Plain "Horse Sense" ideas on a post card may win.

Second, sign your name plainly, and also tell me the name of your feed dealer.

Third, mail your guess on or before National Maud Purina Day. That is February 25th.—I selected it specially because my favorite feed, Purina O-Molene, saves my owner 25% of his feed.

Purina O-Molene is wonderful feed for mules and horses. I know, 'cause I'm a mule myself. It is economical, because I like it, and assimilate all of it that I eat. I never have trouble digesting all of my O-Molene. Also, it makes me husky and healthy, so that I can do more work for my owner.

Now then, here are the prizes:
For the best answer the prize will be $100.00
For the next best answer the prize will be $25.00
For the next best answer the prize will be $10.00
To the dealer whose customer wins 1st prize $50.00
To the dealer whose customer wins 2nd prize $10.00

FOOD SITUATION IN SERBIA IS ACUTE

American Red Cross Sends Large Quantities of Food and Clothing Into Desolate Country—Transportation Extremely Difficult.

Dedagatch, Bulgaria, Dec. 23.—Via London Jan. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The extreme difficulty of transport thru Serbia, and the ruinous condition of the country's railways as a result of wanton destruction wrought by the Bulgarians and Austrians in their forced retreat, is strikingly shown by the fact that the American Red Cross in order to get relief supplies to the Nish section, has had to route its shipments by rail east from Saloniki to Dedagatch, then north to Adrianople, then west to Sofia and finally across the Bulgarian border to Pirot, a total distance of more than eight hundred miles.

The regular railroad route north from Saloniki to Nish is only about 275 miles and can be travelled in ordinary circumstances in twenty-four hours. Red Cross supplies have taken ten days to reach their destination.

From Uskub to Belgrade, nearly three hundred miles, the railroad at points is wholly destroyed and dozens of bridges and tunnels are in ruins. It is estimated that the work of reconstruction will require more than a year.

Two hundred and nineteen motor trucks, on a recent trip to Nish arrived with only thirty tons of supplies.

The allied military authorities have ceased trying to reach northern Serbia from Saloniki and the south, and are sending people and supplies by ship to Fiume, on the Adriatic. The food and clothing situation in Northern Serbia is reported to be very acute. Ordinary peasants' working dress is said to cost two hundred francs and a cake of soap thirty francs. The American Red Cross is sending large quantities of food, clothing and medical supplies south thru Fiume.

BRITISH WARSHIP PENETRATED GUARD.

Lawford, England, Jan. 12.—The fact that one British warship, after the battle of Jutland penetrated the guard patrol of the German High Seas Fleet and laid mines to cut off their retreat has just been disclosed.

The information became public thru the presentation to a Lawford church of a flag of the warship Abdiel, of 1,556 tons and a speed of 40 knots.

The inscription accompanying the flag testifies that the Abdiel "slipped thru the redoubled guards of patrols on the night of the battle of Jutland, May 31—June 1, 1916, and laid a great series of mines close to the German coast, blocking the entrance of their retreating ship into the harbor. This dangerous night's work," and the inscription "was completely carried out and the havoc among the German ships was so great that their crews mutilated and refused to go out again. The white ensign presented to the church was flown by the Abdiel in the Jutland battle."

ROOSEVELT AS POLICE COMMISSIONER.

Some letters which Theodore Roosevelt wrote when he was police commissioner in New York in 1895 have recently been published for the first time. They were addressed to his sister Mrs. Cowles, at that time living in England and strikingly reveal the tremendous character of the struggle he was waging for decency against the forces of corruption.

In the New York political world just at present (he wrote after he had been eight months in office) "every man's hand is against me; every politician and every editor; and I live in a welter of small intrigue. . . . I work—and fight!—from dawn until dark, almost; and the difficulties, the opposition and lukewarm support, I encounter, give me hours of profound depression; but at bottom I know the work has been well worth doing, and that I have done it as well as it could be done, and what I most care for is its intensely practical, workaday character; it is a grimy struggle, but a vital one."

Two weeks later he was writing: "All day I strive to push matters along; to keep on good terms with the Mayor, while rejecting his advice and refusing to obey his orders; not to be drawn into a personal quarrel with Platt; not to let my colleagues split either among themselves or with me; to work, with reformers, and yet not let them run away with the department; to keep weeding out the bad men; to attend to the thousand complaints, well and ill founded, of citizens; to try to improve discipline, and to build up the detective bureau and develop leaders; and so on and so on."

"Gradually it began to dawn upon the minds of the people of the city that the police department was becoming more efficient than it had been at any previous time in its history. But the politicians of both parties continued to fight him hammer and tongs."

"There is nothing of the purple in it (he wrote of his work in 1896). . . . It is as grimy as all work for municipal reform over here must be for some decades to come, and it is inconceivably arduous, disheartening, and irritating; beyond almost all other work of the kind. . . . I have to contend with the hostility of the political machines; I have to contend with the folly of the reformers and the indifference of decent citizens. The work itself is hard, worrying, and often very disagreeable. The police deal with vile and hideous vice; and it is not to be done on a rose-water basis. The actual fighting, with any of my varied foes, I do not much mind; I take it as part of the day's work; but there is much that is painful. But fight after fight is won, and its very memory vanishes."

"The battle for decent government must be won by just such unromantic, grimy, drudgery, painful months of marching and skirmishing, mostly indecisive; the 'glorious days' of striking victory, are few and far between, and never take place at all unless there is plenty of this disagreeable, preliminary work."

All men who are struggling for better government in American cities will find encouragement and inspiration in these words written by a great fighter in the midst of a great fight.

DAIRY EXTENSION CAMPAIGN.

During the last fifteen years farm dairying has been made extremely easy for the Illinois farmer. In this time the farm cream separator has come into general use and the establishing of a cream station has brought a market to his very door. He already has the cows and the help to milk them. The prices for butterfat have been good and an average of five or six hundred dollars per year has been added to the income of every farm milking from five to ten cows. Of the hundred million pounds of butter produced annually in Illinois, more than 95 per cent is made from hand separator cream originating in three-to-five cows dairies where dairying is not the main farm activity, but is regarded as a side line. The product from these small herds aggregates a tremendous quantity and a proportionate farm revenue.

Farmers, however, have pretty generally lost sight of the care which cream ought to have in order to deliver it to these cream receiving stations in the best possible condition. It is the desire of the average farm dairyman to deliver cream not more than three times weekly and twice weekly in winter. Nothing is wrong with this frequency of delivery provided while being held for delivery the cream has had proper care on the farm. It is not troublesome or expensive to give cream the care it ought to have. Cream should be cooled to the temperature of well water after each milking. Warm cream should never be mixed with cool cream. Cream while held on the farm should be kept as near as possible at the temperature of well water. It is not difficult to arrange to do this.

But these simple precautions have not been generally taken by farmers and as a result much poor cream is offered for sale. Food cream makes good butter, which sells at a fair butter price. The difference between the fair butter price and the highest price is the difference which the farmer ought to have. It seems too bad to go to all the expense of producing a product as valuable as cream, to put it to the point of getting it to the separator and

ITALIAN-JUGO-SLAV QUESTION POSTPONED

PARIS, Feb. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—The proposed arbitration of the Italian-Jugo-Slav frontier question is for the moment in abeyance. The Italian Premier, Vittorio Orlando, has informed President Wilson that after consulting with his colleagues they had agreed that it would be impossible to take a decision on the arbitration proposal which the Jugo-Slavs presented to the peace conference asking President Wilson to arbitrate without first consulting the king and cabinet, and, if necessary, the parliament.

President Wilson explained that he was not the originator of the proposal, which was presented by M. Trumbitch during a conversation, last week and he had simply mentioned it to Premier Orlando in a conversation which followed. The president added that he would prefer not to have the responsibility to arbitrate but was willing to act as a friendly intermediary.

The deputation has arrived in Paris from Fiume to present documents on the claim of Fiume to be united with Italy.

The estate of which he was manager's estimated at near a quarter of a million dollars. Wilson left his daughter at a downtown corner early Monday night saying he had some business to attend to and then would go to a boxing contest, returning home late. Investigation showed he visited his office where he left his overcoat.

MELTING COIN INTO BULLION.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—Perspiring men shoveling silver dollars into a fire with the same kind of a shovel ordinarily used to put coal in a furnace, and piles of gold and silver coin and bullion, amounting to more than $400,000,000 were some of the unusual things seen at the Philadelphia mint by the government assay commission which today began to test the coins made at the several mints last year. The silver dollars are being reduced to bullion.

Nervousness and Headaches Caused By Acid-Stomach

There is a much closer connection between the stomach and brain than most people imagine. It is because of this close connection that indigestion, belching, sour gassy stomach and other stomach miseries—all of which are sure signs of acid stomach—are so often followed by severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia and many other disorders which affect the brain can also nearly always be traced to the same source—acid-stomach.

So often you hear people say: "I am so nervous I think I'll fly to pieces," or "It seems I never give a good night's sleep any more, my nerves are all on edge." Little do they dream that acid stomach is the direct cause of their troubles because very often there are no pains in the stomach at all. So you see, you can't always judge an acid-stomach condition by the way your stomach, itself, feels.

If you are weak, nervous, unfit—if you are not up to your old time form—if you lack your accustomed enthusiasm, energy and power—make this test and see if it is acid-stomach that is holding you back—robbing you of your health, strength and vigor. Get a big box of EATONIC—the wonderful modern medicine that so quickly puts an acid stomach to rights. It is in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy. EATONIC rids the stomach of excess acid. Brings instant relief from indigestion, heartburn, sour belching, food repeating, bloating and gas and makes the stomach cool, pure, sweet and comfortable. Dentists warn us against the bad effects of acid mouth, pointing out that the acid eats thru the enamel of the teeth, causing them to decay. You can easily imagine then the amount of damage excess acid will cause to the delicate organization of the stomach!

Thousands of people are using EATONIC and the results obtained are so remarkable as to be almost unbelievable. Yet their letters of gratitude, many of which are received daily, prove absolutely that EATONIC does all and even more than we claim. The medical profession, too, recognizes the great value of this wonderful remedy. A learned Michigan doctor wrote recently: "I have had such wonderful success with EATONIC that I want every one to know how quickly it will neutralize the stomach (acid-stomach) and the stomach will soon be sweet and normal again, and the sick man well and happy once more."

So be sure to get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. If it fails in any way to give you the kind of satisfaction you want, the it back—he will refund your money. He doesn't want one penny of your money unless EATONIC helps you.

P. Ma'non and Robert Barker Talk About Methods Which Make for Success—Poor Quality Cows the Most Expensive.

A meeting in the interest of dairy extension under direction of the department of agriculture of the state was held Thursday afternoon at the court house. County agent G. B. Kendall presided and addresses were made by J. P. Ma'non, president of the state dairymen's association, and Robert Barker, manager of the Lisle farms at Lisle, Ill. This meeting was one of a series being held throughout the state under the auspices of the department of agriculture. Mr. Ma'non, who has been in the dairy business for more than forty years in this state, has been very successful in a business and is able to speak from a ripe experience.

DON'T NEGLECT THOSE RHEUMATIC PAINS

You know that rheumatism, once it becomes established, requires prolonged treatment—it means much misery and torture during that time. The joints become stiffened and swollen—you cannot move without pain—the pain is incessant and sleep is denied you. When the joints show a tendency to stiffen or become the least painful, then is the time to remember.

NYAL'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY—promptness of treatment counts much toward eliminating the disease—the longer you neglect it the more painful and lingering it becomes. Nyal's Rheumatic Remedy removes the poison from the system in the shortest time possible—its continued use will result in a permanent cure.

He talked yesterday especially about the care which should be given cows while Mr. Barker talked more in detail with reference to proper feeding.

Warm Barns Needed. Mr. Ma'non said among other things: "The dairy animals that make the best showing are kept housed from November until late in May or sometimes the first of June, according to weather conditions. If you want a cow to produce milk profitably the animal must be comfortably stabled in a spacious stall, fed and milked regularly. A cow does better when she occupies regularly the same stall than she does if switched about from place to place in the barn. And the same thing applies to regularity in feeding and milking. These dairymen who get the best results are liberal feeders. A cow should clean up all the feed given her but there should be a plentiful ration."

"We have wider stalls now than we used to think necessary. The animals are heavily bedded and the manure produced is one of the valuable adjuncts of the dairy business. No dairyman should be without a silo for silage makes the cheapest feed possible. Fifteen tons of good silage come from an acre of corn and that is sufficient to feed two cows every day for a year. Take silage with alfalfa and then some cotton seed on oil meal and you have a satisfactory ration."

There should be plenty of feed of the right quality just as there should be plenty of pure water. The cow makes milk from the feed given here and the success of that milk machine depends upon the food supply. You can't pay too much for a really good cow and a poor cow is expensive at any price. The development that can take place in milk production is instanced in the case of a cow in California, which last year produced 300,000 lbs. of milk, with wholesale value of $1,000. A great deal depends upon methods in dairy operation. We have some men at Elgin who operate their dairy business on just about half the cost of others. Some men have the same amount of work done by four men that others accomplish with the work of two. In all our dairy business we must remember that one of the most important things is the building up of land and it should be our ideal, just as it is our duty, to turn over the lands of this state to the next generation in better condition of fertility than we received them. This can be done if proper attention is given to the conservation of all the refuse in dairying, and then due attention is given to its application to the soil in a scientific way.

Strong for Silos.

of silos and I want to say that there is far greater danger of putting up corn too green than there is of having it overripe. Nothing pays in the handling of cows better than care and gentleness. I visited a herd the other day at a state institution where every animal shied off as you approached. That herd was not in charge of a dairyman. They used to talk about the over production of dairy business but we have seen the demand grow year after year and it is greater today than ever before. After the country goes to the demand it is going to be even greater that it is now. What dairying means to the state is well seen in Wisconsin and Illinois I am glad to say, is taking steps in the right direction toward the expansion of the dairying industry. The dairyman in Wisconsin have developed their business satisfactorily largely thru the cow testing associations, of which there are at least ninety in the state. In Illinois there are twenty such associations and the number is growing.

"Time was when you could go to Wisconsin and pick out the animals you wished to purchase and now you must take the ones that they are willing to sell. And you can count on it that the offerings do not represent the best in the Wisconsin herds. "We farmers have much to be proud of. Before the war began we were short of labor. Then our young men went to the war and notwithstanding these facts, when the call came for greater production we gave it. The farmers have no wide spread organization. They do not go to Springfield or Washington for any special legislation, but they have the satisfaction of being the real producers and know that all classes of society are dependent upon them for what the soil brings forth.

The Dual Purpose Cow.

Mr. Barker was introduced by Mr. Kendall as the manager of a large and successful dairy at Lisle. The speaker gave his experience in feeding, indicating that at the Lisle farm silage, alfalfa and ground corn with some oil meal and cottonseed meal have furnished the best milk producing ration. Mr. Barker emphasized the advantage in keeping high quality cows and said that the old system of dual purpose cows was not of advantage to the dairyman. He termed the keeping of Shorthorn cows for milk purposes as a rich man's game since the cows themselves are not profitable from a dairying standpoint. He emphasized his point by reference to individual dairymen whom he had known in Ohio, where he lived for a number of years. At the end of an eight year period of development one of these dairymen who kept dual purpose cows—that is, those supposed to be good for milk and beef purposes—had cows producing an average of 4,000 or 5,000 pounds of milk a year. The other man, who had gone in for strictly dairy animals and improved the quality, had increased the average yield of his cows from 4,000 to near the 12,000 mark.

Two Plans Suggested. "At Lisle," he said, "we have two year olds that give as high as 10,000 pounds of milk and it is never our purpose to keep a heifer that produces less than 6,000 pounds. In securing a herd of the right quality, one plan is to build up thru several years from high quality grade cattle and the other is to buy in the beginning the needed number of thoroughbreds. Only in a few instances is the latter plan advisable. The best and safest way is to build up the herd. The greatest danger in the operation of a dairy is that of disease among the cows. tagious abortion are the worst diseases with which dairymen must contend. These diseases are apt to bring financial loss if sows are purchased in large number, instead of building up the dairy thru production. Starting with the grade cattle of good quality with the addition of a thoroughbred sire and with due attention to breeding, the dairyman who gives proper attention to his affairs has one of the most certain businesses in which one can engage.

"Dairying requires constant daily attention and for that reason some men do not like the business but it has its rewards for work well done and during the period of dairy operation the land on the farm grows constantly better instead of being robbed of its fertility. Following both of the addresses some time was spent in discussion and it was a very profitable hour."

MONDAY CONVERSATION CLUB PROGRAM

Two Interesting One Act Plays Given for Open Meeting Event—Social Hour Followed.

The open meeting given by the Monday Conversation club Thursday night was out of the usual order. Instead of a program similar to those carried out at meetings in the past, members of the club and friends to the number of 100 witnessed two one act plays given in music hall, at Illinois Woman's College. Miss Mary Anderson, president of the club, gave the titles of the plays and the names of the players, indicating briefly the plot of each play.

At the conclusion of the second play came a social hour in the reception rooms, when Miss Anderson and the other officers of the club, Mrs. H. V. Stearns, Mrs. O. F. Buffe and Mrs. E. B. Landis, received. Between the plays Miss Ruth Scrimger with Miss Skinner as accompanist, sang a group of songs with great acceptance.

The first play was James M. Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look" with Miss Janette Powell and Miss Rena Lazelle, Mr. H. V. Stearns and Mr. A. C. Metcalf in the cast. In this play the story tells about Harry Sims, an English gentleman, about to be made a knight. To answer letters of congratulation a typist comes to his home and greatly to his surprise finds that she is his former wife, who left his home fourteen years before.

The interview which results discloses the fact that wife No. 1 left the palatial home, not because of infatuation, but from the fact that she no longer could stand the selfishness of her husband and his self-centered success. The luxury of his home meant nothing to her because all her own individuality was being blotted out, and the lines of the play explain that she had sought her freedom just as soon as she had been able to earn twelve pounds and purchase a typewriter.

So Mr. Barrie gave the name of "The Twelve Pound Look" to this clever preachment against selfishness and that aristocracy which is founded on wealth alone. It constitutes a lesson on what is the meaning of real success.

Miss Janette Powell took the part of Kate, the wife, who preferred individuality and work rather than the home of luxury. Every line of the difficult role was well done and Miss Powell added to her already excellent name in literary work of this class.

Miss Lazelle gave capable interpretation of the character of Lady Sims. Mr. Stearns was cast in the part of Sir Harry Sims and the character of the pompous English gentleman was well portrayed. A. C. Metcalf appeared as the butler, a very necessary if not heavy part.

The second playlet was "Beau of Bath" and a picture of English life. It recounts the dream of a beau, who, thirty years after seasons of flirtations and popularity, finds himself old, with little left for amusement other than sitting in loneliness before his own fireside playing solitaire. Mr. Stearns had the part of Beau and as he sat at midnight slumbering before his fireside, Mrs. H. P. Samuel as "Lady of the Portrait," stepped from the golden frame in the corner of the apartment and made the dream real. The "Lady" and the "Beau" turned back the pages of memory to the days of social triumph, long since gone, and the "Beau" especially, found a new happiness as the triumphs of the old days came trooping thru his mind. But the end of the hour came, the "Lady" was once more framed, and Jepson, the butler, roused his master to indicate that the time for retiring was long since past.

Mrs. Samuel's costume was suggestive of earlier fashions and she interpreted the character with correctness and with the winsome ability which marks her every play, but met its requirements with equal ability. Mr. Metcalf as Jepson gave a very faithful picture of the aged English servant, long schooled in service.

As indicated, a social hour came after the plays and the evening entertainment's thrust was one which the company greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the young women of the college.

HEARING CONTINUED.

The continued hearing on the West College avenue pavement which was to have been held yesterday, was postponed on account of the illness of Mayor Rodgers. The hearing has now been set for Monday, Feb. 24, at 3 p. m.

LOCAL BASKETBALL FIVES BUSY TONIGHT

Jacksonville High Plays at Home—Illinois College and Routt on Foreign Floors.

Three of the local basketball fives, Jacksonville High, Illinois College and Routt High, will engage in contests tonight.

Jacksonville high will have Jerseyville high as an opponent at David Prince gymnasium. Jerseyville has a veteran team, all of them except one being the same team that won the district tournament here last year.

They defeated the locals at Jerseyville sometime ago. In that contest Jacksonville played on even terms with her opponent until the second half when the men tired and lost the game.

Coach Hopkins has been working his men hard since then and they have shown a vastly improved form. On the home floor they are confident of giving the Jersey county boys a strong argument.

Illinois Will Play Two Games
Illinois College will leave this afternoon for Bloomington where two games will be played. The first is with Wesleyan this evening. Wesleyan has been going strong so far and has a 25 to 30 victory over Augustana and a 27 to 20 victory over Normal.

On Saturday afternoon Coach Harmon's squad will take on the Normal five at Normal. While Normal has not many games on the right side of the ledger she has played some good games, among them being a game lost to Millikin by a score of 24 to 27.

Coach Harmon had hoped to have Millikin here on Washington's birthday but the game was cancelled by the Decatur school and so far no word has been obtained as to the reason. An effort is being made to get Carthage here for that date.

Harmon will take the following men to Bloomington: Tomlinson, Cully, Farrell, Mutch, Andrew, Leighton and Swain.

Routt High at Franklin.
Coach Conlon will take his Routt high five to Franklin this evening where they will engage the Franklin high team at Marquette hall. Routt defeated Franklin here and the Franklin boys are going to try and reverse the decision tonight.

On Saturday evening Routt will have the strong Pittsfield high as opponent at Liberty hall. Pittsfield beat Routt at Pittsfield by a big score. However, Coach Conlon's men believe that on a large floor they will be able to get on the long end of the score.

We still have a few more pairs of the $5.00 corsets that we are selling at $3.50, fitted and guaranteed.

GOVERNMENT WILL CONTROL INSURANCE

Policies Issued to Soldiers Will Not be Turned Over to Private Company—Will Have Opportunity to Convert Into Other Forms.

The question of what the government is going to do with the soldiers' and sailors' insurance is at last settled and rates, information and conversion privileges are now set forth definitely by the government. Strawn & Spink, managers of the Columbian National Life Insurance Company, are in receipt of information on the subject.

It has been rumored that the government would turn all the insurance over to one or several of the old line companies to continue it, but this is not the intention as the government expects to continue taking care of all the insurance.

The insurance as now carried by the boys can be carried only five years from date of peace, in its present form. By the end of five years the policy must be converted into one of the following six forms: Ordinary Life, Twenty-Pay Life, Thirty-Pay Life, Twenty Year Endowment, Thirty Year Endowment, or Endowment maturing at age 62. These are the only forms the government will issue, and the rates for the most usual forms will be as follows, for each $1,000 of insurance:

Ordinary.
Age	Monthly	Annually
20	$1.15	$13.58
25	1.29	15.24
30	1.47	17.36
35	1.70	20.08
40	2.01	23.74
20-Pay Life.
Age	Monthly	Annually
20	$1.76	$20.79
25	1.91	22.56
30	2.10	24.81
35	2.33	27.52
40	2.62	30.95
20-Year Endowment
Age	Monthly	Annually
20	$3.31	$39.10
25	3.33	39.34
30	3.36	39.69
35	3.41	40.28
40	3.51	41.46

It must be borne in mind that the converted policy will take the age and premium at the age the assured has attained when he converts it and no credit will be given for the term premiums paid before the policy is converted. The converted policy will have a paid up value, cash or loan value and an extended term value after the first year.

In the event of death the policy is payable to the beneficiary in 240 monthly installments, and arrangements are being made so if no beneficiary survive the policy will be paid to the assured's estate. A grace of one month is allowed in the payment of premiums, and in case the policy is lapsed a two year period is allowed for re-instatement.

Many of the boys have allowed their insurance to lapse, some intentionally, and some through carelessness or misunderstanding, but it is to be hoped that these will take steps to recover their insurance, and all others will keep their policies in force, at least, until they thoroughly understand the privileges and options open to them under the present policy. Policies may be reduced in amount but not increased and checks, or money orders, payable to the Treasurer of the United States, should be sent the first of each month to "Disbursing Clerk, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C."

FALL OF DIRT

Yesterday morning a singular phenomenon was noticed both in the city and also several places in the country. Dirty water fell for some moments and umbrellas were sprinkled with dirt spots similar to small pox on a person and many windows showed the effects of the downpour. It is probable that a dust cloud intervened between the source of the rain and the earth causing the phenomenon.

CONDITIONS NEAR GLASGOW

J. D. Benson who is taking some time for rest and recuperation at Winchester, his former home, recently visited Glasgow, Scott county and gives a glowing description of the large tract of land that has been reclaimed by the river levee. He saw fields that had been in corn and free from weeds or signs of them and the owners said they had forty to sixty-five bushels to the acre while large fields of wheat promised abundant harvests. One man has 2500 bushels of corn that he has not yet sold.

SERGEANT MCGREGOR BANCROFT HOME

Sergeant McGregor Bancroft arrived in the city Wednesday evening for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bancroft on Prospect street. The young gentleman enlisted Sept. 17, 1917 in the 331st regiment, machine gun company and was first assigned to Camp Sherman near Chillicothe, Ohio, and went thence to Camp Merritt, New Jersey. He sailed June 5th landing at the Albert Docks, not far from London proceeding up the river Thames for the purpose. By rail they went to Southampton and thence to LaHavre, France where they remained a few days and then went to the Chaumont district to a town named Focey and then back to the S. O. S. area where they handled replacement troops.

His command did not immediately participate in any great engagement but was active in handling guns and supplies and they had much communication with the sick and wounded whom they helped to hospitals and places of safety as far as possible. He was much pleased with the attitude of the French toward the American troops whom they regarded as best friends. He was much pleased with conditions in general and looks remarkably well and speaks kindly of his service in general.

He sailed from Brest Jan. 17th and landed in New York the 26th and was first assigned to Camp Mills, Long Island where they remained a short time and were then sent to Camp Sherman. REGULATE SALE AND PLANTING OF SEEDS

Bill Introduced in Illinois House and Senate Intended to Prevent Sale of Seeds Contaminated by Foreign Matter.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13.—Noxious weeds, including dainty morning glory, are hit a hard blow in identical bills introduced in the Illinois house and senate regulating the sale and planting of agricultural grass seeds. The measures are pending in the agricultural committee.

A bill intended to prevent sale of seeds contaminated by foreign matter, passed by the fiftyth general assembly, was declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court. The measures now up are framed to remove the objections.

Senator Harold Kessinger drew up and introduced the senate bill and Representative F. A. McCarthy of Elgin the house bill.

The measures provide that the state department of agriculture be charged with the responsibility of making necessary tests and of bringing about enforcement of the law, which provides a fine ranging from five dollars to five hundred dollars for violation.

Each package of seeds and mixtures of seeds exceeding ten pounds in weight, would bear a label stating the name or mixture, name and address of the vendor, statement of the purity of the seeds, year in which grown, and if possible the place where grown. Sale of seeds for lawn and special purposes would be prohibited where there was present more than 25 per cent of foreign matter, and vending would be unlawful where agricultural seeds contained more than a half of one per cent of noxious weed seeds.

Noxious weeds as applied to the act include buckhorn, bracted plattain, Canada thistle, sheep sorrel, quack grass, curled dock, Russian thistle, ox-eye daisy, wild mustard, clover dodder, alfalfa dodder, field dodder, corn cockle and morning glory.

Seeds defined by the bill are wheat, field corn, oats, rye, barley, canes, red and mammoth alsike, sweet and other clovers, alfalfa, and seeds of other leguminous field crops, rape, timothy, blue grass, orchard grass, and all lawn seeds.

The department of agriculture is authorized to make a charge of 25 cents for testing each sample.

Prosecutions under the act are to be brought through state attorneys in the counties where offenses are committed.

VISITING NIECE.

W. C. Thompson and family are enjoying a visit from his nephew and niece Samuel and Miss Lillian Welch of London, Canada. His nephew has just returned from overseas. He spent something over three years in the army service. He spent eighteen months in the trenches and hasn't got much love for the enemy. It is very interesting to listen to him tell of the places he has been and the narrow escapes he has had. He was slightly wounded three times, but he says he would much rather forget the happenings than to talk about them. He says the fellow that never felt shakey was never up at the front. Every fellow thinks his nation did the most towards putting down the war.
